

Hoffa Admits

Mich. and was a fifth amendment witness before the committee last November. He said he was kidnapped from his Flint home Sunday night, doused with an inflammable liquid and set afire by two unknown assailants. Officers since have raised questions about that story.

Hoffa declined comment when queried about the incident. The committee, resuming its bitter feud with Hoffa, sought in Tuesday's testimony to portray him as a recipient of payoffs to settle labor disputes in 1949 between his union and Detroit laundry operators — at the expense of laundry truck drivers fighting for a five-day week.

Witnesses said to avoid a city-wide Teamsters strike that year, Detroit laundry owners made a secret $17,500 payoff over a three-year period.

Several of the witnesses called it extortion and two of them said they thought some of the money went to Hoffa. But they said they couldn't swear to it.

Hoffa, who last appeared before the committee a year ago, was called back as part of the committee inquiry into alleged underworld tieups of various labor and business groups in Detroit and elsewhere.

Ike Discusses Wide Variety of Subjects

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States wants to discuss the whole sweep of Middle East problems and their causes at the proposed special session of the United Nations General Assembly.

The President told a news conference it would not be practical to restrict debate to just the problems of Lebanon.

In reply to a question, Eisenhower said he has no present plans to attend the extraordinary U.N. meeting.

But he added that he would attend if it should find it necessary or desirable.

"It was Eisenhower's first news conference since July 2 — almost five weeks before U.S. troops moved into Lebanon, and most of the questions concerned the Middle East crisis.

Among specific matters he touched on:

TROOPS — Asked when and under what conditions the United States would pull its 15,000 troops out of Lebanon, Eisenhower replied withdrawal will come whenever the Lebanese government says it feels the situation is in hand, and there no longer is threat of indirect aggression.

SUMMIT — As to the possibility of an eventual summit conference, Eisenhower said you can't rule out all possibility of one because of the Soviet rejection of such a meeting in the U.N. Security Council.

INTEGRATION — Eisenhower said he has no special plans for trying to head off any new school integration crisis this fall. He said there must be every effort at state and local levels to deal peacefully with the situation.

The President added he has no way of knowing whether some new crisis may arise in September. He said if he could think of anything to do in advance which he thought would be effective, he certainly would do it.

ADAMS — A reporter asked that the President justify, as the reporter put it, keeping Sherman Adams on the job as his chief aide.

Eisenhower replied he had made a statement on that matter some weeks ago, and would have nothing more to say on the subject.

In his earlier statement, the President said Adams was important in his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Gold, but "I need him" on the job in the White House.

HEALTH — Edward T. Pollard of the Washington Post called Eisenhower's attention to speculation in English newspapers that the President's health is not good.

Pollard told Eisenhower, "You look pretty good to me," and asked how he was feeling.

The President smiled and thanked Pollard. He said the writers of the stories had not consulted him or his doctors.

Eisenhower said there seems to have been a more constant stream of major problems confronting him in the last six months than was the case earlier. But he said he doesn't feel the burden is really great, and his doctors say he is in good shape.

LABOR — Eisenhower was asked whether he is backing a Senate labor-reform bill and the efforts to act House action on it. He replied that as far as backing he will decide on that when and if the bill comes before him.

WARRIOR — He appealed once more to both labor and business to halt the wage-price spiral. He had been asked whether he has any plans to control inflation in the light of recent steel price increases and the prospect for rising federal budget deficits.

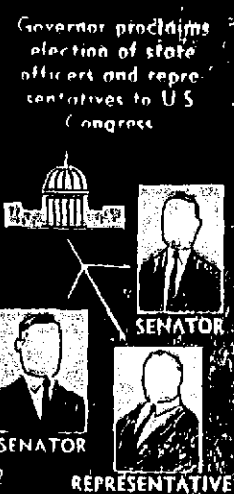

The President said labor, business and the government "all should be concerned about that situation and that labor should be most concerned."

He spoke of how inflation dilutes the value of workers' pension funds.

President Eisenhower signs Alaska statehood bill, notifies Governor

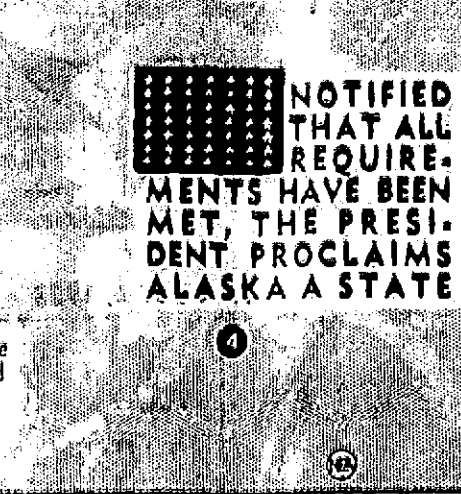

Stepovich of Alaska.

Governor Stephens announcing the statehood bill, notifies U.S. Congress

In referendum Alaskans vote on acceptance of statehood with conditions specified by Congress.

STEPS TO STATEHOOD — President Eisenhower has signed the Alaska statehood bill, but as sketches above show, the machinery of statehood requires a few more actions before the 40th star can be added to the flag. Most important are the two proclamations which the Governor of Alaska must make — one for election of state officers and one representative and two senators to Congress; the other for a referendum approving the statehood bill. There will be two elections: a primary, then a general election not later than Dec. 1. The plebiscite, which may be held at the same time as the general election, will pass on three propositions: (1) accepting admittance to the Union as a state; (2) accepting the boundaries prescribed by Congress and relinquishing claims to all other land; (3) consenting to all provisions pertaining to rights or powers of the U.S. and those granted to Alaska. The final proclamation by the President will make Alaska statehood official.

Ike to Head

Khrushchev's proposal for a special five-power session on the Middle East had removed all possibility of a conference at the summit.

Eisenhower said the United States' purpose in any U.N. debate on the Middle East will be first to show that this country has acted within the U.N. Charter and second to concentrate on constructive measures to help the people of the area.

He said he has no faith in negative measures, and troops will not win the peace.

Asked whether the United States accepts Russia as a power in the Middle East and whether it would be prepared to join in economic development programs and border guarantees with the Soviet Union, Eisenhower said this nation ought to act through the U.N. in the matter.

Apparently referring primarily to economic measures, he said the United States would be prepared to go along with any discussion of the kind and he hoped the Soviet Union would do.

Officials were privately pleased that the fight between the Soviet Union and the Western powers will come in the Assembly rather than at a summit conference. Secretary of State Dulles among others was known to fear that a Middle East summit meeting would very likely do more harm than good.

Khrushchev himself could head the Soviet delegation to the emergency Assembly session if he chose. Some officials speculated that he might do so, but most thought he would not. They interpreted a letter he sent Eisenhower Tuesday, as backing completely away from the whole summit conference idea at this time.

This bewildering switch in policy, the latest in a series of twists and turns over the past three weeks, has officials guessing.

Most said that he probably had finally rejected Western proposals for a summit meeting in the 11-nation U.N. Security Council on the insistence of Communist China. He conferred in Peking late last week with Mao Tse-tung and other Red Chinese leaders.

In a 10-page letter to Eisenhower, Khrushchev denounced the Security Council as an instrument of the United States, asserted that Red China should be brought into the U.N. and told Eisenhower that Khrushchev was instructing his ambassador in New York to ask at once for an extraordinary meeting of the General Assembly.

The President smiled and thanked Pollard. He said the writers of the stories had not consulted him or his doctors.

Eisenhower said there seems to have been a more constant stream of major problems confronting him in the last six months than was the case earlier. But he said he doesn't feel the burden is really great, and his doctors say he is in good shape.

LABOR — Eisenhower was asked whether he is backing a Senate labor-reform bill and the efforts to act House action on it. He replied that as far as backing he will decide on that when and if the bill comes before him.

WARRIOR — He appealed once more to both labor and business to halt the wage-price spiral. He had been asked whether he has any plans to control inflation in the light of recent steel price increases and the prospect for rising federal budget deficits.

The President said labor, business and the government "all should be concerned about that situation and that labor should be most concerned."

He spoke of how inflation dilutes the value of workers' pension funds.

TAKING A LICKING — Dog days are cool days at Sun Valley, Idaho, for Chris, the big St. Bernard. When it gets too hot, he just licks off his share of playmate Evan Lister's ice cream cone.

Symington and Williams Win as Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Democratic presidential prospects—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri—did as expected Tuesday and scored easy victories in their state primaries.

The twin triumphs highlighted primary contests in four states. There were no major upsets. The advance favorites generally prevailed in balloting that took place in Kansas and West Virginia as well as Michigan and Missouri.

The 47-year-old Williams beat back his first intraparty challenge in 10 years to win the Democratic nomination for a sixth trip to the governor's mansion. He quickly rolled to a 6-1 margin over William L. Johnson, a radio broadcaster from Ironwood, and held it as the vote total mounted.

Williams' republican opponent in November will be Paul D. Bagwell, 44, a Michigan State University professor who was unopposed for his party's nomination.

Sen. Charles E. Potter gained GOP renomination without opposition too. He faces the prospect of a general election race with Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, a Williams running mate who captured the Democratic senatorial nomination. Hart easily turned back a rebel challenge in the primary from Homer Martin, a former United Auto Workers official.

The "wrong" candidate generally is assumed to be Sid McMath, former governor who ran against McClellan in 1954.

On the other hand, McClellan and Faubus have been quite friendly and many observers had the feeling that the Senator might view Faubus as that "right" candidate.

However, since the recent tragic death of McClellan's son, Jimmie McClellan, the senator has had to give up his long cherished dream of practicing law with a son. This might have an effect on his decision regarding his plans for 1960.

Many of his friends here figure McClellan will hide his grief in hard work—he is one of the work horses of the Senate—and will prefer to go on serving in the Senate.

This then would confront Faubus with something of a tough decision.

Against either McClellan or Fulbright Faubus might have difficulty making a political capital out of the segregation issue.

Both Arkansas Senators have gone down the line against civil rights legislation and both signed the Southern Manifesto of several years ago.

Of course, there also is speculation that Faubus may be cast in some Southern third party role in 1960.

And again there is the possibility that the Democratic party might like to cast McClellan in the role of vice presidential candidate in 1960.

Sheer speculation, but Arkansas around here find it all interesting.

Sergeant Escapes Disciplinary Action

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A sergeant who ordered trainees to do 40 pushups or a hot asphalt punishment faced no disciplinary action by the Army.

Sgt. Roy C. Cobb of Atlanta ordered the pushups as a disciplinary measure July 29 when the recruits became unruly during a drill. Thirty-one suffered burned hands. Two of them were hospitalized, but suffered no permanent injury.

Brig. Gen. William C. Bullock, commander at nearby Ft. Chaffee, said Cobb ordered the pushups without malicious intent and did pushups himself.

House Votes to Increase Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today voted 260-108 to increase the government's debt ceiling to 268 billion dollars, highest in peacetime history and second only to a World War II high.

A surprisingly strong protest vote was registered against the bill, spending chiefly by Southern and Midwestern conservatives of both parties.

The bill gives the government authority to borrow more money to pay its obligations and finance billions in new programs.

The administration had requested the increase in the debt limit. The bill, which now goes to the Senate, authorizes a net increase of 8 billion dollars.

Compromise Military Measure Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed a $1,005,000,000 compromise military construction authorization bill.

The measure, a reworking of a bill originally passed by the House and Senate, was sent to the Senate on a 260-135 vote for final legislative action.

Opponents of the track said much of the $1,005,000,000 was to be used for a new track from Dallas to Los Angeles, some 20 miles west of here, and from towns in south Georgia.

The proposal for legalized racing with pari-mutuel betting drew strong opposition from a ministerial group and certain business men.

Florida Voters Okay Dog Track

MONTICELLO, Fla. (AP) — Jefferson County voters approved establishment of a dog track in a referendum yesterday, 1,049 to 822.

The Jefferson County Kennel Club had been operating a dog track since 1954.

Faubus Eying Senate Seat, Report Says

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus' lap-sided victory in his bid for a third term has stirred considerable speculation here as to his possible intentions regarding the U. S. Senate.

A state governor is almost always regarded, in advance speculation, as a possible senate candidate and in view of Faubus' win, Arkansians in Washington, among others, are engaged these days in some long range guessing.

Dulles Cites New Threat to Peace

By TOM STONE

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today indirect aggression threatens another world war. "This time," he said, "with even more disastrous consequences."

World events now show "disturbing symptoms such as preceded and forecast World War II," Dulles said in a speech at a luncheon given for him by the American Chamber of Commerce in Brazil.

Dulles spoke to the American business community just before flying with Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek to Brasilia, the nation's capital, under construction 600 miles northwest of Rio. It was the secretary's last stop on his 24-day visit to Brazil. He was to fly back to Washington tonight.

Dulles and Kubitschek were reported near agreement that a summit conference of the 21 American republics should be called to knit together the strained ties between the United States and its Latin neighbors.

By TOM STONE

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek were reported near agreement today that a summit conference of the 21 American presidents should be called.

The first gathering of American presidents since July 1956 would launch "Operation Pan American," a drive to strengthen inter-American relations, informants said. The drive would include a full-scale attack on economic underdevelopment in Latin America.

Dulles at a press conference reiterated the U.S. position that private capital should carry the burden of development and U.S. government aid is limited.

The prospect of a summit meeting to be attended by President Eisenhower caused some surprise. Sic Kubitschek began pushing the idea in June. Washington had taken the position that the foreign ministers could accomplish more than the heads of state, who would be bound by more formality and protocol.

Car, Three Bodies Pulled From River

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP)—A car containing three bodies was pulled Monday night from the French River. Police believed it had plunged into the river two years ago from a bridge then under construction.

Neither the identities nor the sex of the three bodies could be established immediately.

The car was found by a skin diver exploring the river bottom. Fifty four per cent of all farms in France are cultivated by their owners.

News Briefs

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—By a vote of 1,833 to 1,423 the voters of North Little Rock yesterday approved the installation of 500 parking meters in the downtown area. The special election was called after a controversy developed over the city's purchase of the meters last May.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Radio station operator Clyde E. Wilson yesterday asked Garland Circuit Court to declare him the Democratic nominee for sheriff. His suit charged voting irregularities in the July 20 primary in which Sheriff Leonard Ellis won.

renomination to a third term by 6,143 votes compared to Wilson's 5,942 and inactive candidate Doyle Howell's 175.

MEMPHIS (AP)—The Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus, traveling by special train, packed up after tonight's show here and moves on to Fort Smith, Ark. It won't stop at Little Rock. Circus officials said Fort Smith was added to the circuit itinerary at the last minute when the route through Texas was changed and a stopover point was needed on the new route.

Execution Delay for Convicted Rapist

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Convicted rapist Luther Bailey, a 45-year-old Woodson Negro, yesterday won a delay of his scheduled Aug. 22 execution.

The announcement of Bailey's reprieve by the U. S. Supreme Court came about the same time that an attorney for convicted slayer, Binnett Earl Leggett, also scheduled to die Aug. 22, revealed plans for a new move aimed at saving his client's life. Attorney Kenneth Coffelt said he would ask that a special hearing be held to pass final judgment on Leggett's sanity before his execution.

Non date.
The stay of Bailey's execution was granted by Associate Justice Charles E. Whitaker in an order which arrived at Gov. Orval Faubus' office here yesterday afternoon.

Plan to Sail Across Atlantic in Boat

HAMBLE, England (AP)—Three young Californians said today they plan to sail a 10-ton racing boat across the Atlantic even though yachting veterans say it will be futile. They are Bill Ayres, 20, Garden Grove; and James May, 27, and Henry Burleson, 28, both of Glendale.

They are refitting their sloop, Lereche, and plan to start before the end of August.

The Lereche has a beam of only 8 feet and an over-all length of 41 feet. Seasoned yachtsmen said the Lereche and her crew will be lucky to get through the English Channel.

"We are looking for adventure and no one is going to stop us," said Ayres, a veteran merchant seaman.

Edmond ("according to Hoyle") Hoyle, who wrote the first book on card games back in 1742, lived to the age of 87.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I have come to the miserable realization that I'm happier when my husband is away than when he is home. His job takes him on frequent long trips and the children and I are more content when he's gone. My chief dissatisfaction with him lies in the fact that he will give me no assistance whatsoever at home. Whether I am ill, have company or am doing outside work, I still have to take care of everything at home, plus shopping, paying bills and helping him with work he brings home. When he's away I have time to read, sew or fix up things around the house and yard. I have tried to talk this out with him but he says he needs relaxation when he gets home from work and doesn't have the energy to do things about our home. Otherwise he's a good husband; doesn't drink, gamble, go out with other women and is a good provider. His attitude is fast dissolving my love for him.

Dear Audrey:
If you took a sheet of paper, divided it in two columns, one headed "My Blessings," and the other "My Complaints," I'm sure you'd fill the first one pretty fast while the other would contain just a few items. A man who is a good provider, with no major faults, is a blessing that deserves a column to himself. A man who is all that, and still helps with housework, is an extra added attraction about as rare as a first-class TV spectacular. Being a good wife and mother is no cinch, but it is our job. You can always look toward the day when the children will be grown and you'll have plenty of leisure. Please remember your husband has business problems, too. Look on the hopeful side of life, not the dark, dismal, despairing side. You'll be everlastingly sorry if you let your love for your husband go down the drain. Fight to hang on to it, for it is as precious a thing as his love for you. You wouldn't want to hear him say that his love for you is fading, would you? Well, then, get a grip on yourself and give up these silly thoughts.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
Although we're going steady, my boy friend only comes to see me once a week. If I say anything to him about it, he gets mad. He has plenty of time to go riding with his friends, so why can't he spare some for me?
Love,
Dear Lovelorn:
Is this "going steady"? The boy has you tied up, but what do you have? Hopes? If he wanted to see you more than once a week, he would do so. You're an available — and probably inexpensive — date awaiting his convenience. Get help. End this one-sided relationship.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
We're a couple of girls 15, with a gripe against our parents. They are swell people otherwise, but they won't let us date unless they have met and approved of the boys. The boys are shy and won't come to the house. Flo and Belle
Dear Girls:
Let me suggest that this is too wasteful just to ever find with your parents. They're completely right, of course. If your boy friends want to date you they'll just have to get over their shyness. Any properly brought up boy knows that he's expected to call for his date at her house and meet her folks. Convince them that Mom and Dad aren't ogres, but very nice people.

Lou Burdette Magic Cools Off Pirates

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

All it took was a little dose of Lou Burdette magic to cool off the Pittsburgh Pirates as National League pennant contenders.

Although the Milwaukee right-hander allowed 10 hits, he maintained his old spell over the Pirates in a 6-1 victory Tuesday night that restored the Braves five-game lead over San Francisco.

The Giants lost to the Cubs 10-9 in the 10th as Ernie Banks single chased home an unearned run at the expense of Johnny Antonelli. Clementi rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth to top Philadelphia 6-5. Frank Robinson knocked in the tying and winning runs with a two-run double off Dick Farrell. Jack Sanford gave way to Farrell in the ninth with two on and the Phils leading 5-3.

St. Louis broke out of its batting slump with 21 hits in a 13-3 romp over Los Angeles.

Bob Turley, the majors' top winner, capped No. 17 for the New York Yankees, a 4-1 verdict over Baltimore. The Red Sox beat Washington 7-1. Jim Piersall hit a three-run homer. Cleveland downed Detroit 6-1.

Burdette shut out Pittsburgh for seven innings on the way to his 11th victory. Successive singles by Dick Groat, Hank Foiler and pinch hitter Ted Kluszewski finally produced the run in the eighth. All Milwaukee scores were charged against Ron Kline, who gave up all five Brave hits for his 10th defeat.

Banks had four hits, including his 31st homer, high in both leagues. Rookie Morris Thacker also homered for the Cubs and Leon Wagner and Orlando Cepeda for the Giants.

Willie Mays, who had three hits for a .341 average, singled during the five-run seventh inning before Cepeda's 21st homer. The Giants tied it in the ninth on a wild pitch by winner Glen Hobbie only to lose on an error by Danny O'Connell, a walk and Banks' single.

When Sanford left the game in Cincinnati, the Phils had two on with none out. Farrell relieved the first two men he faced but Crowe slammed a single off his glove for one run and Robinson hit a 1-2 pitch into center field. Joe Nix hit the winner on relief.

Billy Muffett went all the way in the steaming heat of an August afternoon in St. Louis, holding the Dodgers to seven hits. Dany DeVitt was chased with his fourth defeat.

Turley Nearest 20 Game Hurler in American

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

You have to hand it to that fellow Bob Turley. When he starts something he finishes it. The New York Yankee ace, top winner in the majors with his 17-4 record, has completed 16 of 22 starts.

If Baltimore never sees Turley again it will be much too soon. The Orioles have scored only one run against their former team mate in 36 innings.

Turley's latest effort was a seven-inning masterpiece. He started day night for a 4-1 victory.

Mickey Mantle slammed his 30th home run off loser Connie Johnson with two men on in the third. The blow tied him with Boston's Jackie Jensen for the American League homer lead.

The feble Orioles suffered their ninth straight defeat, tying the Detroit Tigers for the longest losing streak of the year. The Tigers, now improved, had a six-game winning string snapped by Cleveland 6-1 when Cal McLish, pitched the Indians into fourth place. He scattered seven hits to make his record 11-6.

Billy Monbouquette, a 21-year-old rookie from Medford, Mass., beat Washington 7-1 for his first major league victory for Boston.

Ted Williams playfully eluded a fan in the outfield until the police caught up with the intruder in the seventh. Jimmy Piersall's three-run homer was the big blow off loser Camilo Pascual.

Chicago jumped on loser Bob Grim for five runs in the third inning and hung on for a 5-4 edge over Kansas City with some neat relief work by Turk Lown.

In the National League, Milwaukee regained a five-game edge by downing Pittsburgh 6-1 in a night game after the second-place San Francisco Giants lost to Chicago 10-9 in a 10-inning game. Cincinnati rallied in the ninth to nip the Phillies 6-5. St. Louis enjoyed its biggest batting day of the year with 21 hits in a 13-3 romp over Los Angeles.

With 49 games to play in almost eight weeks, Turley appears to have a good shot at a 25-win season for the Yanks. His best record was 17-13, in 1955. A walk Gene Woodling's single and an infield out produced the Oriole run in the first.

Cleveland scored all its runs off George Fauce in the first three innings. Two came on Mickey Vernon's homer.

Monbouquette, brought up from the Minneapolis farm about four weeks ago, finally got some solid hitting and steady defense from the Red Sox. Among the batting Don Buddin, who chided a tag at second and then performed a swan dive from the shortstop side of the bag.

Lown put down a Kansas City uprising in the fifth and blanked the A's the rest of the way to earn the victory.

Little Rock (AP) — Players for next week's All-Star football and basketball games gathered here today and began light workouts—mixed with a little entertainment.

The 34 high school athletes, the state's best, spent a little time renewing acquaintances and then ran through brief practice sessions. Tonight they will be fed at a banquet and presented with watches in the traditional All-Star gift.

But beginning tomorrow it will be strictly business as coaches begin whipping their squads in shape for next week's third annual games. Twice-a-day workouts are scheduled.

The Past squads will base their sessions at Little Rock Central High School and the West squads will make their headquarters at Forest Heights Junior High.

The coaches got in a day of advance planning yesterday, setting up schedules and other plans for the 10 days the athletes will be here.

Tonight's banquet for the players will feature a talk by J. H. (Bo) Rowland, former coach and now public relations man.

Agreement Reached in Mexico Strike
MEXICO CITY (AP)—An informal agreement was reached early today to end a strike of Mexico's nationalized railroads that threatened to snowball into a Red-anti-labor general strike.

The agreement was made by Roberto Amorós, general manager of the railroads, and Demetrio Vallejo, a dissident railway labor leader who called the wildcat strike Saturday night.

The Mexico Labor Department was expected to make the agreement formal. Vallejo said once this is done rail service should get back to normal quickly.

Vallejo called out more than 100,000 rail workers to protest the arrest of union members trying to take control of the union.

Armstrong Is Happy Over His Rating

NEW YORK (AP)—It's nice to be ranked among the world's 10 leading middleweight contenders but a ranking by itself doesn't put too much meat on the table.

That's the way Gene Ace Armstrong sizes up his position today. He's holding on to his job as a packer with Linden, N.J., liquor concern.

"I'm too young to retire and getting too old for this kind of work," said Gene. "But I've got a wife and two kids and fighting isn't bringing in enough money to keep us going."

Armstrong is a lean, 26-year-old 160-pounder who has won all 14 of his fights in three years of fighting for cash.

Now ranked ninth by the NBA, he gets his big break Friday night when he faces rugged Robery Calhoun of New York in the television headliner at Madison Square Garden. That should earn him about $5,000, including the $4,000 TV fee. His biggest purse to date has been about $1,500.

A victory over Calhoun, ranked sixth by the NBA and eighth by Ring, could move Armstrong up the ranking ladder and put him in line for some lucrative fights.

Arkansas Girl Faced With Murder Charge

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A verdict of first degree murder has been asked in the trial of Bette Hope Johnson, 18, a former Arkansan charged with killing her one-time boy friend.

District Atty. Kit Nelson asked for the verdict yesterday.

Miss Johnson is charged in the fatal shooting of Harold Kenneth Horn, 25, at nearby Lamont last June 1. The shooting occurred as the two sat in Miss Johnson's auto's mobile at a drive-in.

Her attorney, Joseph Woolridge, said the shooting was accidental and occurred during a scuffle.

Miss Johnson said she and Horn were sweethearts at Russellville, Ark., and went west together to work as farm laborers.

Woolridge said she planned to commit suicide when Horn told her he was leaving her. The attorney said Horn was killed when a revolver discharged accidentally.

A physician testified that two bullets were fired and one slug severed a main artery near Horn's spine.

The district attorney contended that the attack was premeditated and indicated murder because two shots were fired.

ALC Asked to Look Into Park Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Legislative Council has been asked to determine how much money would be needed to buy enough land for making Pea Ridge battle ground a national park.

At present Pea Ridge, site of a Civil War battle fought March 6-8, 1862, is a national military park.

State Rep. Clayton N. Little of Benton County made the proposal for a Legislative Council study. It will be submitted at an Aug. 13 council meeting.

Little estimated yesterday that it would take about $200,000 in additional funds to buy the required land for a national park. He proposed the study so the council could submit recommendations to the 1959 Legislature for a possible appropriation for land purchase.

In 1956 Congress approved and President Eisenhower signed a law directing the National Park Service to develop the Pea Ridge park if Arkansas could provide the land. Arkansas' 1957 Legislature allotted $250,000 for the purpose but later the National Park Service raised minimum land requirements from 1,200 to 4,416 acres.

The liner, Britannia, which began service between England and Boston in 1840, carried one cow to provide fresh milk for the passengers.

The largest traveling crane in the world is in the Chastang hydro power station south of Paris. It is 66 feet wide and weighs 446 tons.

U. S. to Look Into Steel Price Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investigating senator raised the question today whether some form of governmental action might be necessary to stop the upward spiral of steel prices.

"Nobody likes price and wage controls," Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told Victor R. Hansen, chief of the Justice Department's antitrust division at an inquiry into recent steel price boosts.

"But with this thing going along as it is at the present time people are becoming alarmed."

The exchange with Hansen took place in a hearing on steel price increases by the Senate Antitrust subcommittee headed by Kefauver. The subcommittee announced last week that about $4.50 a ton average, or 3 per cent.

For his part, Hansen said he hopes price competition can be restored through regular antitrust action, and that he opposes price controls.

He said the Justice Department is giving extremely close scrutiny to the recent steel price hikes with a view to possible antitrust action.

Blames State Weaknesses for U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee says weaknesses of the states themselves have been a major cause of the federal government's stepping into bigger aid programs over the years.

The Intergovernmental Relations subcommittee draws this conclusion from a three-year, nationwide study of grants-in-aid to the states.

Under the program, the federal government allocates funds for a wide range of projects provided the states put up money of their own too.

The subcommittee's findings are contained in a report adopted unanimously in closed session.

The report said federal grants for programs ranging from aid to state soldiers' homes to highway building and pollution control have climbed from 124 million dollars in 1925 to more than 5 billion for fiscal 1958.

The report said the grants generally have found favor throughout the nation.

But the subcommittee, headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-NC), described as unsound the "idea that the federal government can vacate particular tax fields and thereby automatically create revenues for the states or municipalities."

The transfer of federal grant programs is no panacea for the weaknesses of state and local government," the report said.

Tennessee Adjutant General Charged

HINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A charge of drunk driving and other counts against Maj. Gen. Joe W. Henry Jr., adjutant general of Tennessee, have been turned over to Tennessee military authorities for disposition.

Mayor F. W. Mingledorf said today the case had been referred to the 30th Armored Division. He said it is customary to refer cases against military personnel to military authorities and that he advised Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, to that effect on Aug. 2.

Police Chief Dave C. Mobley reported last Thursday that Henry was arrested by Hinesville officers the preceding Sunday and charged with driving while drunk, reckless driving and running two stop lights.

Henry had been with Tennessee National Guard troops in training at Ft. Stewart, Ga. He left the base there last Wednesday to return home.

Following the report of the arrest, Clement announced he had accepted the temporary resignation of Henry pending the outcome of trial of the case in the mayor's court here.

James Hoffa Called Back by Probers

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers called President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union today for questioning about alleged union-gangsters conning in extortion deals.

Hoffa's log-scheduled return to the witness stand followed by only a day the torture-burning of a minor Teamsters official who had appeared last fall before the special Senate committee.

Frank Kierdorf, business agent of Teamsters Local 532 at Flint, Mich., was critically burned there when two men he said he did not know doused him with liquid and made him a human torch. He had no explanation, but said he was sure the attack was connected with union business.

Among other things, Hoffa faced questioning about why he let his union keep Kierdorf as a paid official after Kierdorf last November invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer committee questions.

The committee planned also to ask Hoffa for comment on testimony by Mrs. Nancy Dawson, a Detroit businesswoman, that a man representing himself as "Hoffa of the Teamsters" had threatened her with harm if she testified.

Mrs. Dawson said last week she had no way of knowing who actually telephoned the threatening message.

THE STORY: Fear has become so imbedded in the minds of neighbors of Bruce Adams, 13, who was brutally murdered, that even the discovery of a dead dog results in a call for the police.

A RUEFUL smile crossed Edna Bergerson's face. "I think he died from old age, but with this thing last night."

The lieutenant permitted himself an answering smile. "I think so too, but your son being up there is understandable, and maybe we can let him mind at ease. Had he had the dog long?"

"Over 10 years," Mrs. Taylor's actions made it even worse than it was. "She offered him a cigarette as she spoke, and lit one herself.

"How did she happen to see him?"
Well, Bob called Bugs this morning and found him just where the patrolmen saw him, under the flowering cherry tree, and he came running saying someone had killed his dog.

"I went out with him, of course, and we were standing there looking at Bugs, when Marsha came out of her house with Timmy and Jody. I guess she was going to take them to the corner to catch the school bus. Anyway, when she saw us, she came over to see what was wrong. When she saw Bugs she just stood for a minute, then she ran back across the street, grabbing the children, and ran into the house as if she had just heard the Black Plague was coming. She's peeking at us from her window now, though; I can see her."

Morrison would have given odds that the trip to Mother's was practically in the bag.
"We'll know about the dog soon. If it was just old age, it might make it easier for Bob."

Morrison liked this woman. It was unusual in this work to meet someone who seemed normal.
"Well, to get to the questions. Were you acquainted with Bruce Adams?"

MRS. BERGERSON hesitated for a little, then answered. "I know him, but not well. I don't think anyone knew Bruce very well. He was so shy."

Morrison suppressed a grunt of irritation. To be the center of a murder investigation, Bruce was the nearest thing to a nonentity he had ever come across. If the boy was from the dead and knocked on every door in the neighborhood, he doubted it anyone but his mother would recognize him.

"Everyone mentions that, Mrs. Bergerson, but no one says anything about why he was so shy. Do you have any idea?"

"I—," she hesitated. "It seems like gossip, but I have always thought it was because of his younger brother Clyde."

"How's that?"
"When Clyde was a baby he had eczema rather badly. That means the Adams had a lot of worry and extra care while they were waiting for him to recover. They've spoiled him outrageously. At Bruce's expense, without ever being aware of it. Actually, Clyde is as healthy as a horse, and an aggressive little brat, far beyond their control, but to them he is still fragile."

Most of the people around here don't seem to think too highly of Clyde. Yet that the reason everyone was so sure Bruce had run away from home."

She flushed with embarrassment. "That was my idea, but I can't answer for the others."

He looked into silence, and smiled while he tried to think of a diplomatic way to get her to talk about her neighbors. She didn't seem like the sort of woman who raked her friends over the coals just for the heck of it. Finally he decided. It was nice and subtle, just like a belt with a pipe wrench.

"What do you think of the people that live around here, Mrs. Bergerson?"

She broke into a low chuckle. "Lieutenant, are you asking me to gossip?"

"He felt like a fool."
"Never mind," she went on in a kinder tone. "I'm willing to give you my opinion, but remember, it's just an opinion. I know these people, but not well enough to make my judgment count for much."

He gave a small sigh of relief. "As you know, I'm a bit peevish with Marsha today, but Ken's a wonderful person. He's a forerunner of some sort in a factory downtown. He's kind and decent and has a sense of humor that makes him wonderful company. I've heard he has a quick temper. For a while there was a story going around about a fight at work, but I've never seen any sign of a bad disposition. He adores his wife and children, comes home right on time, doesn't drink and only goes out on his bowling nights."

"Mrs. Bergerson likes Mr. Taylor."

A spontaneous grin flooded Morrison's face.

"Don't tease, Lieutenant," she responded. "Marsha won't fare so well, I'm afraid."

"All right. What about Marsha?"

She thought for a moment, then continued. "We're friends of a sort. Marsha isn't really grown up enough to have women friends. That sounds like an odd thing to say about a woman almost 30, and the mother of two children besides, but that's how she seems to me. Sometimes I think if she says, 'Mother always said, just once more, I'll throw something at her.'"

He shifted in his chair. This might prove to be very enlightening.

"How about the Verheys?"

Senators Get Prize Hall of Fame Cup

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — The Washington Senators, mired in the American League cellar, have one consolation prize—the Hall of Fame Cup.

The Senators knocked off the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 Monday in the 17th renewal of the annual major league exhibition game at Doubleday field before 8,515 fans.

The victory gave the American League a 9-8 edge in the series.

Vito Valentinetti pitched five hitless innings in relief of starter Jim Coonstabile to beat Seth Morehead, Albie Pearson of Washington and Willie Jones of the Philadelphia home runs.

Six of the 21 living members of the Hall of Fame attended ceremonies at which a new Hall of Fame building was dedicated earlier in the day.

New members were elected to the Hall this year by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Dulles Gets 'Go Home' Shouts at Rio

By JULIUS GOLDEN
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles began talks with Brazil's leaders today after a handful of students marred his warm welcome briefly with jeers and a "Go Home" banner.

Dulles' program for the first full day of his 60-hour visit included talks with Foreign Secretary Francisco Neagrao de Lima and then a meeting with President Juscelino Kubitschek.

Dulles said on arrival Monday he would talk about the world situation, inter-American relations with special attention to economic problems and U.S.-Brazilian relations.

The Brazilians were most interested in what Dulles would have to say about coffee, their chief export crop, and U.S. aid in developing Brazilian oil resources.

A meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers or even heads of governments to study economic and other problems has been suggested by Kubitschek.

The Soviet Union has been seeking recently to renew diplomatic and commercial ties with Brazil and has stepped up its economic campaigns in neighboring countries.

Brazil broke diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union in 1947 after a number of Soviet verbal attacks on her, and the government has reported a number of Communist subversive plots in recent years.

Dulles' route from the embassy to the residence of U.S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs took him by the headquarters of the leftist National Students Union at 50 miles an hour. Students leaped out the windows jeering and whistling, a Latin-American form of booby.

The building was draped in black and signs said "Dulles Go Home," "Petrobras" (the state-owned oil company) is "untouchable" and "The United States Has No Friends, Just Interests," the latter a quotation attributed to Dulles.

Five Critically Hurt in Wreck

MARTINSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Four of five persons injured in a three-car pileup remained in critical condition today.

Joseph Murphy, 39, of Yorktown Heights, N. Y., was in critical condition with facial and chest injuries. Two passengers in the Murphy car, Mrs. Claudia Gahner, 40, of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Darlene Lichtenslager, 47, of San Francisco, Calif., also were hurt.

Mrs. Lichtenslager as serious as Leroy Carter, 31, of Bradford, Ark., and his wife, 30, also were in critical condition in the Martinsville hospital.

State police said a car driven by Carter skidded on a highway near Martinsville Saturday and was struck broadside by Murphy's auto. A third car struck the Murphy vehicle in the rear and knocked it off the road.

Janette Davis Is Leaving Godfrey Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Janette Davis has left the Arthur Godfrey Show after 12 years. An announcement yesterday by CBS and Godfrey said the singer is returning to private life from an active career in show business.

Godfrey withdrew a dismissal of other members of his famous group caused by recriminations, said of his parting with Miss Davis. "Jan has my unending thanks for a job well done."

Miss Davis' husband, Frank Musiele, resigned as associate producer of Godfrey's "Talent for a Diversionary Action in this party of the world."

They suggested that such an action would enable Khrushchev to demand a summit conference on the Far East and insist that Red China as one of the parties directly concerned be represented.

The Nationalists said such action could be an attack on the Nationalist island outpost off the Red China coast or against Peking itself.

Shehab Wants U. S. to Leave Lebanon

By EDWIN A. SHANKE
Beirut, Lebanon (AP) — President-elect Fuad Shehab wants U.S. troops to get out of Lebanon but President Camille Chamoun is determined to keep them here until his term ends Sept. 23.

Shehab said withdrawal of the 13,000 American soldiers and Marines is "foremost among our national aims." The first announcement of the army commander since he was elected Thursday indicated he favored a policy of neutrality toward the big powers and friendship with Lebanon's Arab neighbors.

Chamoun, the pro-Western President who asked Washington to send the troops three weeks ago said, "I won't ask the Marines to leave." He has rejected rebel demands that he step aside early for Shehab.

Chamoun also said he would represent Lebanon at an summit conference to which Middle Eastern leaders are invited.

See One More Try to Avert Cotton Cut

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern congressmen figured today they probably will have only one more chance to try to avert a big cut next year in the cotton acreage allotment.

This last chance is a bill now pending in the House, a somewhat amended version of a farm bill passed recently by the Senate.

"I believe this is about the only farm bill we now have a chance of passing," said Rep. Thomas G. Abernethy (D-Miss), a member of the House Agriculture Committee.

He added, however, that because of a snarl which developed in the House over the measure yesterday he isn't at all certain it will pass. The House took up the bill but a debate developed and it was put over until Wednesday.

The situation is that unless some legislation is passed this year the national cotton acreage allotment for 1959 will drop to about 14½ million acres, compared with the present allotment of 17½ million acres.

Cotton interests are fearful that if this happens the present surplus will drop to the point where there will be no acreage and marketing controls in 1960 and the sky would be the limit on plantings.

Both the House and Senate bill would fix a minimum cotton acreage allotment of 16 million acres, plus 310,000 acres to take care of minimum allotments.

Both bills have similar but not identical provisions to give farmers a choice of programs for 1959 and 1960.

Under the House bill the grower could choose between these two programs: (A)—his normal share of the acreage allotment and a price support of not less than 60 per cent of parity in 1959 and probably 75 per cent in 1960; (B)—an increase of up to 40 per cent in his acreage allotment (the increase to be determined by the secretary of agriculture) and price supports 15 points below that for the "A" farmers.

Price supports for the "A" farmers would be a available through a purchase program for the "B" farmers through loans.

The Senate bill gives the same choice except that "A" farmers would get 75 per cent of parity both years and the acreage increase for "B" farmers would be a flat 40 per cent.

After 1960, under the House bill, farmers would receive their regular acreage allotments and there would be no "A" and "B" choices.

We deeply appreciate the many expressions of sympathy extended to us during the recent death of our loved one. Your prayers, beautiful flowers, and comforting words are acknowledged with grateful hearts. May God richly bless each of you in our prayer.
